

Academic Integrity and Cheating Resources

Campus Cheaters CBC Special Report

Data from 41 Canadian Universities and Colleges, 2011-2012

<http://www.cbc.ca/manitoba/features/universities/>

Faking the Grade, Doc Zone

One-hour documentary with students, administrators, parents and teachers speaking about their experiences around what's known as "Academic Integrity", while experts provide insight into why students cheat. Those experts say it's no surprise that young people cheat. They see it going on everywhere in the world of sports and entertainment, and especially business.

<http://www.cbc.ca/doczone/episodes/faking-the-grade>

Why Student Cheating is Rampant and How Technology Helps, and Foils, Cheaters

Research by a University of Guelph management professor suggests that almost 60 per cent of first-year students admitted to cheating on tests in high school, and almost 75 per cent on written work, according to a study a few years ago by Julia Christensen Hughes, who is dean of the university's College of Management and Economics and a leading expert on academic misconduct in Canada.

Interestingly, she told CBC's The Current, few of these students said they would be embarrassed to admit their cheating to a friend, or thought they would be caught, or receive any significant penalty if they were caught.

<http://www.cbc.ca/news/technology/why-student-cheating-is-rampant-1.1858067>

The Economy of Cheating (essay)

Students cheat. Educators struggle to respond, sometimes blaming themselves for not making courses sufficiently interesting or relevant and sometimes engaging in a battle of wits or technologies with their students to prevent cheating. Sometimes we in higher education try to address cheating as a moral problem and sometimes as a pedagogical one. Another way to understand cheating, however, is to borrow an insight from Bill Clinton's 1992 presidential campaign, namely, "It's the economy, stupid."

<https://www.insidehighered.com/views/2016/03/08/why-academic-cheating-all-about-economics-essay>

Book Review

Cheating in College: Why Students Do it and What Educators Can Do about it. (2012)

Amid recent scandals, authors discuss a book on "why students do it and what educators can do about it."

<https://jhupbooks.press.jhu.edu/content/cheating-college>

How Can Course Design Help Prevent Online Cheating?

20-Minute Mentor Commons video, accessible through Langara's subscription to the digital library of 20-minute videos about teaching. See By the Way, TCDC/Courses, or contact tcdc@langara.ca for Langara's access code and instructions to create your account and access these videos.

WriteAway Online Tutoring Service

Langara is a member of BC's WriteAway so our students can upload a paper for free. Students at participating institutions have the opportunity to receive online writing assistance.

Qualified tutors from each of the participating sites staff the service and provide feedback on students' draft writing assignments. <http://writeaway.ca/>

On-line Academic Integrity Tutorials for students

SFU - Plagiarism Tutorial

This one has some good quizzes.

<http://www.lib.sfu.ca/help/academic-integrity/plagiarism-tutorial>

University of Maryland University College

This is quite good. It is fairly detailed but only focuses on plagiarism.

<http://www.umuc.edu/students/academic-integrity/ai-tutorial/academic-integrity-tutorial.html>

University of Southern California - USC Libraries

This one is especially good. Students get a score at the end that they can submit to prove they did the tutorial.

<https://libraries.usc.edu/research/reference-tutorials>

Ryerson University

This one has some animated videos that are interesting, but a bit light on content.

<http://www.ryerson.ca/academicintegrity/episodes/index.html>

University of New Zealand MOOC

This free online course called "Academic Integrity: Values, Skills Action" has been used by a Langara instructor as part of a Nursing course.

<https://www.futurelearn.com/courses/academic-integrity>

Langara

<http://langara.ca/library/research-help/citing-help/avoid-plagiarism.html>

Other

International Center for Academic Integrity – Resources
<http://www.academicintegrity.org/icaei/resources-4.php>

Creative cheaters are sharing the most ridiculous ways they've avoided studying:
<http://www.someecards.com/life/school/creative-ways-cheating/>

When Plagiarism is a Plea for Help:
<http://chronicle.com/article/When-Plagiarism-Is-a-Plea-for/235884>