Depending on how your instructor has set up the course, the Content tool is usually the best way to navigate through a course. The content may be organized in a variety of ways, for example: by week, by textbook chapters or by topic. This content may contain course readings, slides, web links, links to quizzes and assignments.

From the top level of Content, you can use the Table of Contents on the left to select a module, or open a content item from the main area of the page.

Once you open a content item, you can click the pull-out tab on the left to access the Table of Contents. You can also use the navigation arrows in the upper-right corner to go to the next and previous items.

You can return to the top level of the Table of Contents at any time by clicking Table of Contents in the breadcrumbs at the top of the page.
